4. What concerns (if any) do you have about relationship and sex education being taught in school?

- Fine on the Relationships education, depends on the depth of Sex education.
- I am not sure my child is developmentally age ready for sex education yet, although I know she needs to be prepared for puberty.
- Concerns about conflict with our cultural background and core beliefs and whether we as parents believe these are age appropriate.

Fine on the Relationships education, depends on the depth of Sex education. I am not sure my child is developmentally age ready for sex education yet, although I know she needs to be prepared for puberty.	The curriculum has been carefully planned so that the children will learn at an age appropriate level. Children will be split into year groups where they are taught together: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Year 1 and 2 • Year 3 and 4 • Year 5 and 6 (we will also split the boys and the girls in this year group) All work will build on prior knowledge and will be taught in a sensitive manner.
Concerns about conflict with our cultural background and core beliefs and whether we as parents believe these are age appropriate.	The RSE curriculum has been mapped out so that each year the children build on prior knowledge. RSE will be taught in a safe learning environment where clear ground rules will be set for children to ask questions to find out more information.
